Merchant shall provide Servicer with all such information as Servicer may reasonably request in connection therewith. The determination of whether a matter has been satisfactorily resolved will be made by Servicer in its sole discretion and judgment. If, at the end of the fifteen (15) business day period, the inquiry or dispute is not resolved or Servicer has not been informed of the resolution of the action Merchant will take to resolve the inquiry or dispute and thereafter Merchant resolves the matter within five (5) business days, Servicer may require Merchant to reimburse to Servicer the outstanding loan balance of the Loan, or disputed portion thereof, as applicable, purchase the Loan as per this Section 5.3 or set off from any future funding due Merchant an amount equal to all disputed amounts (a "Chargeback"). To the extent an inquiry or dispute occurs prior to Servicer or Financial Institution having transferred the Loan proceeds to Merchant, Servicer or Financial Institution may withhold said transfer until said is resolved to their satisfaction by Merchant. If Servicer processes a Chargeback and the inquiry or dispute is subsequently resolved, Servicer will reimburse Merchant for the non-disputed amount.

Marketing Guidelines

When you partner with Servicer, we work together to promote financing to your customers to ensure that your Servicer marketing conforms to applicable law, including but not limited to Regulation Z and the Truth in Lending Act.

In order to adhere to the law and market financing in a way that is transparent and non-deceptive, certain disclosures about the terms and cost of financing must be displayed alongside any marketing campaigns. Businesses that promote credit products also must ensure that their practices are not unfair, deceptive, or abusive (also known as "UDAPP"). Servicer can immediately disable your account if you fail to comply with the law in these areas. Failure to comply also may result in additional legal and regulatory action from Servicer, your customers, or outside parties, and may have other legal or regulatory ramifications.

Before you publish or send any promotional material that includes mention of any Loan Program products, you must receive formal approval of those materials from the Servicer compliance team at merchantsupport@lendingpoint.com. Please allow the compliance team 3-5 business days to review all material.

All of your marketing materials must adhere to the guidelines below.

GENERAL GUIDELINES

- It is unlawful for a provider of consumer financial services to engage in any "unfair, deceptive, or abusive act or practice" when offering a consumer financial product or service. Regulators may view a representation, omission, act or practice to be deceptive when it is material and misleads or is likely to mislead a customer. The representation, omission or act must be considered from the perspective of the "reasonable consumer." Acts or practices that may be deceptive include misleading cost or price claims, offering to provide a product or service that is not available, or omitting material limitations or conditions from an offer. Keep the following guidelines in mind:
 - Avoid statements that could create confusion about the fact that our platform includes products that are closed-end, installment loans. These include statements that suggest that Loan Program financing is an ongoing/revolving credit, like a line of credit or credit card.
 - Avoid statements that could suggest a "no strings attached" relationship when the customer would become contractually obligated to repay a loan, which may have an impact on his or her credit.
 - If specific credit terms are stated (e.g., No Interest), the merchant must communicate those terms to consumers.
 - Promotional language must clearly and accurately convey material limitations or conditions on the terms or availability of products and services. These conditions may include promotional features, expiration dates, prerequisites for obtaining particular products or services, or conditions for canceling services.
 - Any Email Marketing campaigns mentioning LendingPoint, the Servicer, or the Financial Institution and/or the Loan Program must comply with the CAN-SPAM Act.
